PROJECTS

EVENTHYPE (Rails, ReactJS, Redux, PostgreSQL, HTML, CSS, Webpack, AWS, Heroku) live | github A single-page app inspired by Eventbrite where users can browse events, create events and like events.

- Customized JSON responses with JBuilder to improve efficiency between Rails API and front-end interface.
- Implemented a two-step user authentication that ensures user privacy and autonomy through frontend and backend authentication measures using cookies to persist authorization across sessions.
- Connected Active Record models to Active Storage and AWS3 to store image uploads in the cloud for users to use custom photos when creating events.
- Harnessed the unidirectional state management of Redux to simplify React components and directly manage data.

CITIBIKE (JavaScript, Google Maps API, Citibike API, CSS, HTML)

live | github

A Data Visualization that shows the location of bike stations and available bikes near the user in the NYC area.

- Leveraged the HTML5 geolocation feature along with Maps Javascript API to display the location of the user and surrounding bike stations.
- Fetched and stored data asynchronously from the Citibike API using XML requests to get live data of available bikes at any station in the NYC area
- Integrated Google Maps API to render a map of the NYC area directly into the DOM and mark the locations of all Citibike stations based on Citibike API responses
